Miss Rajni Jain is a Consultant Ophthalmic Surgeon specialising in oculoplastic surgery at The London Clinic.

Miss Jain graduated from Guy's and St Thomas' Medical School in 1995 and has completed 10 years of ophthalmic surgical training.

Her specialist interests include eyelid reconstruction following tumour excision and burns, children with eyelid abnormalities, and aesthetic oculoplastics including blepharoplasty, endoscopic brow-lifting techniques, anti wrinkle injections and facial aesthetics including dermal fillers.

Miss Jain is a dedicated surgical trainer and is part of the faculty for 'training the trainers' at the Royal College of Ophthalmologists. She has several research interests and has presented on numerous occasions at national and international scientific meetings.

She is currently a principal investigator in a multi-centre randomized trial looking at treatment for thyroid eye disease. Miss Jain is dedicated to providing comprehensive support for general practitioners and offers private consultations at The London Clinic. She would be delighted to see both general ophthalmic and oculoplastic referrals and is available for emergency advice and consultation at other times.

A close colleague of Mr Lee's taking care of all his patients needing surgery on their eyelids. Mr Lee works with her at the Western Eye Hospital and Hillingdon Hospital.
