An evening with the experts . . .

No longer a research tool confined to hospitals, OCT has arrived on the high street in a compact, easy to use instrument that will revolutionise the way you practice. These seminars look at the OCT revolution and how it will impact optometrists. Distinguished speakers from ophthalmology, optometry and finance address all the key issues of introducing OCT to the high street. Find out what you have been missing – clinically and what you could be missing out on – financially, as the way you practice moves forward.
